Do You Digest What You Eat?

It is one thing to eat and quite another to digest the food. Many people can't do the latter and suffer for years from indigestion without really knowing what is the matter with them. They just know that their "stomach is out of order."

But the most important thing, after all, is to know what is the matter, for then it is easy enough to know what to do. The advice of thousands of people is convincing to you that you need Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. If you have any digestive trouble, as the name indicates, it is for just that very ailment, and that it cures is proven by a list of voluntary testimonials in its office. More direct and personal proof can be obtained by going to your nearest drug store and buying a 50 cent or $1 bottle. Take it and you will be well; better still, results are guaranteed, so you risk nothing.

How George C. Hamlin, formerly of Memphis, Tenn., and now residing at Washington, D. C., where he holds a high position with the Government, is a warm friend of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. He found that invaluable tonic and an aid to his impaired stomach and digestive organs—an opinion shared in by thousands of others. He says that he finds it promotes health and happiness and recommends that it be in every household.

There is, in truth, no better family laxative than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Its gentle and effective action and pleasant taste recommend it especially to weak stomachs, children, women and old people. It is equally good for the most robust who become constipated or suffer from indigestion, sour stomach, biliousness and other troubles. It is a reliable and permanent cure, because results are sure and permanent. It is a reliable laxative and ever a 50 cent bottle will help many members of a family to better health.

FREE TEST Those wishing to try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin before buying a full bottle, send for a free sample bottle to the nearest drug store or address the company. This offer is to prove that the remedy will do as we claim, and is only open to those who have never taken it. Send for it if you have any symptoms of stomach, liver or bowel disease. Get the best yet most effective laxative for children, women and old people. A guaranteed, permanent home cure. THE PEP-SIN VERDICT: "No Laxative So Good and Sure as DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN." This product is pure, perfectly safe, and is made in Washington, D. C.

NEWSPAPER CHAFF

Who painted red roses in her cheeks,
 In hopes some man will take her,
 Is nothing more or nothing less
 Than just a nature-faker.

A story Earl Stirling of the Players' company repeats frequently is of an Irishman who prided himself upon his delicacy and tact. One day when a boy was killed in the quarry where the Irishman worked, he told the men to leave everything in his hands; he would break the news to the boy's mother as it should be done.

He went home, put on a black suit and tie, and started for the mother's shanty.

"Good mornin', ma'am," he said.

"Tis the sad accident yer boy's gold watch has met with."

"Why," said the mother, "Tom never had a gold watch."

"Sure, an' that's lucky," said the diplomat, "for twenty tons of rock just fell on him."—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Though an aristocrat from head to foot, five-year-old Bernice came to kindergarten with her small hands chapped terribly, an evidence of lack of grooming that astonished Miss Violet.

"Bernice," she suggested, "ask your mamma to put some cold cream on your hands, so they won't hurt and be rough." But the hands grew no better. After several days Miss Violet asked:

"Did you tell your mamma about the cold cream, Bernice?"

The child looked up, solemn eyes.

"My hands can't be chapped, Mamma says it's only mortal mind, and I must get over it." Then Miss Violet remembered that "mamma" was a Christian Scientist.—Lippincott's.

Grand Exalted Ruler Melvin of the Elks, is conducting a campaign against the slaughter of elks for their teeth.

In Butte, the other day, a hunter attempted feebly to defend the elks' gradual extermination. Judge Melvin sneered and said:

"Your defense but makes the matter worse. It reminds me of a conversation I overheard in a restaurant last week."

"Confound you, waiter," said a patron, "here's a fly in this soup."

"The waiter bent over the soup and examined it."

"Why, bless yer heart, sir," he said, "that ain't a fly—it's only a bit o' dirt."—Exchange.

A story is told of the famous Richard Brinsley Sheridan that, one day when coming back from shooting, with an empty bag, and seeing a number of ducks in a pond, while near by a man was leaning on a fence watching him, Sheridan asked:

"What will you take for a shot at the ducks?" "Well," said the man thoughtfully, "I'll take half a sovereign."

"Done," said Sheridan, and he fired into the middle of the flock, killing a dozen or more. "I'm afraid you made a bad bargain," said Sheridan, laughing. "I don't know about that," the man replied. "They are not my ducks."—Argonaut.

Speaker Joseph G. Cannon of the house of representatives enjoys a good story and doesn't mind putting it on himself if he can produce a hearty laugh among his cronies. Here is one he tells on his early struggles to found a household and build up a worldly estate.

"When I was married, my good mother, who was a devout Quakeress, said to me: 'Joseph, now that thee is married, thee must get thee a cow, a pig and a hive of bees.'"

"I took mother's advice," relates Mr. Cannon.

"I tried to milk the cow, but she kicked me over, and I had to give that up as a bad job. I tried to feed the calf, but it batted me all around the yard and tore my clothes. Then the bees got ready to swarm and I thought I would go out among them like father used to do and swarm them."

"The bees got around me, crawled up under my shirt and along me in a dozen different places, and I had to let them go."

"The only thing that I could not along with at all was the pig. I could feed it, scratch its sides, and would groom it, but it would not let me and gave it away to a farmer."

"Why, I could no more kill and eat that hog than I could one of the members of my own family. I thought too much of it."—Exchange.

At the Jamestown Exposition Mark Twain talked about barbers at a dinner.

"We are all lazy," he said, "but some of us fight it down. Some of us, again, don't."

"I knew a non-combatant of this class when I was a boy in Istanbul. His name was Jim Clark, and one fine summer morning I found him lying under a tree beside the river, listening to the birds, and watching the steamboats glide up and down the great stream."

"Well, what are you here for?" I said.

"I'm here," said Jim, "for to pile them babes onto the wheel."

"Oh," said I, "and now you are resting, are you?"

"No," said Jim; "I ain't resting, because I ain't tired. I'm just waiting for the sun to sink down behind that there hill, so's I can knock off work."—Exchange.

A story is told in the National Magazine of Senator Knute Nelson, who spent some of his early years in a logging camp. He there discovered the necessity of certain emphatic language in order to make mules move. "All varieties" of tongues were in demand in that camp—Scandinavian, German, Italian—but none of the words used seemed to have the explosive force to adjust the tempo of the mule to the desired pace. Along came a strapping Irishman, who used some popular epithets, usually indicated in print by blank, blank, or—

The mules moved! "There's a language all mules understand," said the Irishman—"and it's not me mother tongue, ayther."—Kansas City Star.

Deafness Cannot be Cured
 by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and in the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.
